treatment followed as a matter of course.

The heads of foreign armies, in which service, for the common herd, at least, is compulsory, do not like the spreading broadcast of stories reflecting the actual conditions of army life, the brutalities and lighter abuses to which the ordinary soldier is subjected.

Military chroniclers who confine their reflections to the bright things connected with the army are at liberty to write as often and as much as they please, but the truth teller has no license to write of the things that are as they are. Of course, our soldiers enjoy a greater liberty of speech than that allowed to foreign military men, but even American officers have been called to strict account for criticising the acts of their superiors. It is the old story of "The King can do no wrong."—St. Louis World.

Best Liniment on Earth.

I. M. McHany, Greenville, Tex., writes, Nov. 24, 1900: "I had rheumatism last winter, was down in bed six weeks; tried everything, but got no relief, till a friend gave me a part of a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. I used it, and got two more bottles. It cured me and I haven't felt any rheumatism since. I can recommend Snow Liniment to be the best liniment on earth for rheumatism." For rheumatic, sciatic or neuralgic pains, rub in Ballard's Snow Liniment, you will not suffer long, but will be gratified with a speedy and effective cure. 25c, 50c and $1.00 at Arcadia Valley Drug Co.

As to Standards of Morality.

John Morley in his "Life" makes this summary of the greatness of Gladstone:

Without bringing back the cosmopolitanism of the eighteenth century, without sharing all the idealisms of the middle of the nineteenth, he resisted with his whole moral progress in the relations of nations and states to one another is an illusion and a dream.

Right! For if nations are absolved from moral considerations so are men. If the strong nation may wrest territory from the weak, the strong man may wrest gold from the weak, and there is no limit anywhere and no restraint except the bestial restraints of fear and the limits of brute strength.

To these atrocious morals of the strong arm we have definitely committed ourselves in the wretched Panama business. It is melancholy to reflect that only five years ago we announced to the world the doctrine that any acquisition of territory by us in Cuba would be "criminal aggression." Criminal aggression we called that suggested villainy. What term then is left to characterize our Panama performance, wherein we have played successfully the parts of sneakthief, the sanctimonious confidence man and the bully and highway robber? Nothing but our enormous preponderance of strength holds Colombia from declaring instant war upon us for our cowardly aggression. That must be a pleasing reflection for all that believe that nations are as answerable to the plain code of morals as are men.

But of one thing, at least, we may be sure. For all the refinements of sophistry and the casuistry of the partisans, the results will be nevertheless of one kind. They always are. "Consequences are unputting," observed George Eliot. They have no more pity for nations than for individuals. There has never been in the history of the world a nation that oppressed, robbed and spoiled weaker nations that did not pay a bitter penalty, and beyond pre-adventure we are setting a precedent that in other days we or our children will have cause to regret. It is always so. The idea of justice was not given to men merely as a sentiment, but because in the long run nothing but the just way of life keeps men or nations from wreck.—Chicago Examiner.

Our Washington Correspondence.

There is one little piece of red tape that each new House goes through with that gives the spectators in the gallery and the members on the floor an opportunity to give vent to their enthusiasm for any particular man they believe in or who they think is a popular hero. That is the time-honored function of drawing seats for the session. A page is blindfolded, and he pulls out of a box a marble with a number on it, and there is a member's name opposite this number. Both are called out and the member then goes down and selects his seat. There was much applause when certain men were called out. For instance, there was a resolution adopted that gave the floor leader of the Republican side, the Hon. Sereno Payne, of New York, and the oldest member on that side of the house, the Hon. Harry Bingham, of Pennsylvania, the floor leader of the Democratic side, the Hon. John Sharp Williams, of Tennessee, the right to choose their seats without drawing for them. There was much applause when they went forward and chose their seats. Then the names of prominent men on both sides of the House were called out, and as they went down the aisles to get their seats there went up the plaudits of their friends. Among the number on the Democratic side who were recognized in this manner were Hon. George B. McClellan, lately elected the Democratic Mayor of Greater New York, and the Hon. William Randolph Hearst of New York, who has done so much for the cause of Democracy and the common people of the country. He received an ovation that must have warmed the cockles in his heart, for it is the universal opinion here that he and his papers, with himself as the directing Democratic head, won the recent election in the city of New York. The Democrats all feel very kindly to him for his work for the party, and they improved the opportunity to show him their marked appreciation of his brilliant work in behalf of Democracy. He has received marked attention from Democrats here since the assembling of Congress. Some of the party leaders here are beginning to find out that he is a much bigger man than they thought; that he was not merely a newspaper man who had made a phenomenal success of the business, but that the reason he made the success was because he was an executive, a single-minded patriot, and a lover of the common people. As a consequence his stock as the nominee of the Democracy for the Presidency has gone up several points.

A Dangerous Month.

This is the month of coughs, colds and acute catarrh. Do you catch cold easily? Find yourself hoarse, with a tickling in your throat and an annoying cough at night? Then, you should always have handy, a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup. J. A. Anderson, 354 West 5th St. Salt Lake City, writes: "We use Ballard's Horehound Syrup for coughs and colds. It gives immediate relief. We know it's the best remedy for these troubles. I write this to induce other people to try this pleasant and efficient remedy." 25c, 50c and $1.00 at Arcadia Valley Drug Co.

Severely Punished.

Lieut. Bilsen of the German army, has found out that the telling of the whole truth on occasion is very liable to lead to consequences serious for the teller.

The lieutenant has been sent to prison for six months and dismissed from the army because he had the unwisdom to write a book disclosing the harshness, petty persecutions, dishonorable intrigues and general unhappiness of garrison life as he had seen it and suffered from it. The lieutenant also had the temerity of attacking the duelling system, so popular with the blood-thirsty members of the service.

Naturally, the German military officers in high places were extremely angry at the lieutenant's truthful recital, and his severe
